With perfect scores for rooms, service, and design, "you won't go wrong staying here." On the shores of Hood Canal, two hours from Seattle, this 88-acre "great getaway" is near the PGA-rated Alderbrook Golf Course and Twanoh State Park. When it opened in 1913, guests stayed in simple canvas tents; today accommodations include waterfront cabins and private houses with Craftsman-style exteriors and interiors that mimic a family beach house. "Every night at sunset, the high tide lapped against the porch while the red wine and cheese plates were aplenty." The Restaurant at Alderbrook dishes up local seafood such as tiny sweet oysters and Dungeness crab cakes. "It's got incredible food, service, facilities, and an amazing spa. . . . Shall I stop now?"
