UNION, Wash -- Less than a 2-hour drive from Seattle, Alderbrook Resort and Spa has long been a favorite northwest escape.

For our journey, we're driving down in a 2016 Honda CR-V. With an average of 33 miles a gallon on the highway, this trip is easily accomplished in less than one tank. Plus, its generous 37 cubic feet of cargo space and room for 5 makes it a good choice for families or for those looking to haul a lot of gear.

Once you arrive at Alderbrook, it's easy to see why people have been coming to this destination for over a century. A few years ago, the resort went through a 13 million dollar makeover. No detail to comfort was left out.

The historic resort sits on the shores of Hood Canal. If you want to jump on the water, you can do it on anything from kayaks to paddle bikes. If you like your water a little warmer, guest can take a dip in the resort's 55-foot heated glass-enclosed swimming pool. Outside, the grounds at Alderbrook have plenty of things to do from volleyball to croquet.

A short drive from the campus you'll find a number of nature trails for you to explore.

But if relaxing is your priority, you can always simply sit back, and have fun doing nothing at all.

Whatever you decide to do, a drive down in a Honda to Alderbrook Resort and Spa is a one tank trip you won't soon forget.
